FIRE THREATENS DESTRUCTION OF COTTON OIL MILL

Cleaning Room of Choctaw Cotton Oil Company
Wiped Out.

ORIGIN IS UNKNOWN

Flames Checked From Seed Storage Rooms and Main Engine Rooms.

Fire of unknown origin demolished the cleaning room of the Choctaw Cotton Oil company, corner Townsend and Ninth street, at noon today and threatened to destroy the entire mill when the flames gained a good headway.

No estimate has been placed on the amount of the loss, though it is covered with insurance, it is understood.

The fire was first discovered shortly before noon. When firemen arrived on the scene and attached hose, it had gained a sufficient headway to endanger the entire mill. Trouble was encountered in getting a sufficient water stream to check the flames.

The fire was well under control by 1 o'clock.

Officials and employees of the mill were unable to determine the cause and origin of the fire, since no combustible materials were in the cleaning rooms.

The flames were prevented from spreading to the adjoining seed room, in which a valuable store of seeds were kept, by a double-partition brick wall. Wooden troughs, connecting the burning cleaning room were kept covered with the hose to prevent the fire from spreading to the storage and main building.

The mill is owned and controlled by a corporation, of which P. A.
Norris is president. J. H. Patton is manager of the mill.

GUARDS TO MAINTAIN WARMTH AT DRUMRIGHT

(By the Associated Press)
DRUMRIGHT, Dec. 19.—Unarmed guards were on duty on the outskirts of the city here today at the gate valve on the pipe line of the Oklahoma Natural Gas company with instruction by Mayor Nicomemus to keep the flow of gas, obtained through an unauthorized connection, the only means thus far found by which the city can be supplied with an adequate amount of fuel.

Twice the gas company has closed the valve, protesting that the action of the mayor in tapping the line is unlawful, but each time the mayor has re-opened it.

Mayor Nicomemus pointed out that an emergency exists because of inability of the local distributor to provide a sufficient supply of fuel to consumers.

Hospitals have been dangerously affected by lack of heat since winter get in. Mayor Nicomemus declared, schools have been forced to close and the populace in general has suffered.

"We have plenty of gas now and we're going to keep it or know the reason why," he said.

Decision of Hand Scored in Report of Foreign Lines

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The decision of Federal Judge Hand at New York, holding that foreign vessels cannot bring intoxicating liquor into the territorial waters of the United States, was attacked as contrary to immemorial usage and unwarranted by any present law, in a brief for the foreign lines filed in supreme court today by former Attorney General George Wickersham.

Summing up his reason for asking that the lower court be reversed Mr. Wickersham declared that although the prohibition amendment and Volstead enforcement act applied to the United States and all territories subject to its jurisdiction, they did not operate regulations of the business of foreign vessels coming into American waters.

Lasker Challenges Capper's Accuracy in Shipping Report

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Accuracy of statements in a questionnaire sent out by Capper's Weekly, published by Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, and head of the farm bloc, to ascertain public sentiment on the administration shipping bill is questioned by Chairman Lasker of the shipping board in a letter received today by Senator Capper. In this letter, Mr. Lasker told the senator "that whatever may be your position upon the pending bill, I am sure you do not desire the readers of your paper to reach their conclusions upon either inadequate or erroneous statements."

PARCELS FORCE P.O. EXPANSION

Sub-Station Open to Make Room for Christmas
Holiday Rush.

Take your parcels to the postoffice sub station.
You cannot mail parcels at any other place, and by going directly to the sub-station you will not interfere with the work of the regular force at the post office in telling you where to go, the postoffice department announced.

The sub-station is located just one door east of the post office. Much quicker service can be obtained at the sub-station and it relieves the congestion of other mails in the regular office, post office authorities point out.

All parcels are routed through the sub-station. Incoming parcels are routed and then sent out through the regular office. Out-going parcels are routed and taken directly to the trains. This takes from the office the bulk of the Christmas rush —which nearly always is confined to parcel post.

Wilbur P. Lee, assistant postmaster, said today that the parcel post business during this Christmas season would be larger than last year, and one of the largest in the history of the local office.

Parcel post shipments are greater at the present time than it usually gets this early in the season, he said. The rush has been on for the past few days and first packages were mailed several days ago.

Better wrapping and addresses are being received now than earlier in the year. Mr. Lee said that incoming parcel post was increasing in leaps and bounds and that indications were that by Friday it would have reached its peak. No estimate could be given as to the amount of parcel post which will be handled this year.

Increase in the regular mail and increase in parcel post made the sub-station necessary. Extra help is being employed this week to relieve the overtaxed department.
Rural routes also report increases in mails and reports from neighboring towns are that the parcel post business of the year is largest since the war.

Four Railroad Men and Three Laborers Executed in Ireland

DUBLIN, Dec. 19.—Four railroad men and three laborers were executed here this morning for interference with transportation in County Kildare.

The seven men executed were captured on November 13 by Free State troops in a house, the location of which is unknown. Within a quantity of stolen goods, rifles and ammunition was found.

The men were tried by a military committee and sentenced to death on charges of wrecking trains.

The sentences were carried out at 8:30 o'clock this morning.

World's Best Husband is Located

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16.—Introducing the world's obliging husband, Benjamin Sohn, Jr., one step to the front please.

Benny Sohn reminds one so much of Benny Leonard—he's so different. Benny Sohn won't fight—that wins him his world's title.

The world's most obliging husband is—rather was—the property of one Dorothy Devore, a beauty of Christie Comedy fame.

Benjamin is nothing more or less than a prosaic printer. Of course he owns a printing business, but he's just a printer nevertheless.

Sometime back Benjamin and Dorothy surprised the home and outlying precincts by stepping out suddenly and nodding languorous assent when the preacher said, "I pronounce you one."

Then followed the usual love in a bungalow and Benjamin was all wrapped up in it. But could the dashing Dorothy be expected to content herself in a bungalow and confine her interest to a mere husband for any length of time?

Benjamin never thought of that.
And so one day he hastened home from work—rather from his office.
He had visions of his pretty little wife and a welcoming kiss as he bounced up the steps and in the front door.

But friend wifey was missing.
"Bless her little heart, I must be early," quoth the disappointed husband.

Then he spied a note on the living room table.

"Bless her little heart some more. How sweet of her." Then he read the note. When he came to he packed his belongings and made a hasty departure.

The note on the floor where it had dropped from nerveless fingers read:

Dear Ben: (real informal like)

Dorothy Devore.

Please move out before morning and don't forget to leave the key.
And the funny part of it all—the part that clinches the world's title so I just got out."

CITY DADS HOLD IMPORTANT MEET

Auto License Troubles form Topic for Meeting of Commissioners.

One of the most important business meetings of the city commission for the month of December was scheduled to start at two o'clock this afternoon when several matters of importance, especially pertaining to the administration, were to be taken up.

Important among the matters for consideration was an adoption of a new license granting ordinance for taxi-cab drivers, another ordinance regulating traffic and repeal of conflicting ordinances and amendment to others, were to be discussed and adopted if properly framed, it was said.

A paving petition is also up for consideration. No announcement was made as to what paving district was concerned, but it was thought that it was a petition for the improvement of several blocks on South Francis avenue.

Other matters which were not mentioned previous to the meeting was understood to be on the program for today's meeting. City Attorney Lowery Harrell is to make a report on his trip to Tulsa and also report his progress on the legal action against the Frisco railroad relative to the opening of a crossing on Cherry avenue.

Wally Quits Booze, Antis Now on Trail

(By the Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—Reports available early today from the sanitarium where Wallace Reid, motion picture actor, is suffering from a breakdown which relatives contributed to his abstaining from whiskey and narcotics, indicated an improvement in his condition.

Reid's physicians said the actor's temperature was near normal and his pulse had dropped from 130 to 112. They added he was able to take nourishment.

The physician said Reid's decline followed his abandonment of drugs and liquor but the specific ailment which threatened his life was influenza.

If the actor fails to recover, it was added, influenza would be the cause written on the death certificate.

The Methodist-Episcopal anti-liquor association of Southern California plans to ask the city today to appoint a committee of men and women to make a thorough investigation of the use of habit forming drugs in Los Angeles.

The association asked the appointment of a commission with "power and authority" to summon witnesses, administer oaths and take evidence, to the end that the truth may be known."

GOVERNORS TALK STRONG POLICY

Harding Conference Adopts Plans for Carrying on Pro Measures.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—General encouragement as to the prospects of meeting the present probi-tution enforcement problem through closer co-operation between federal and state authorities and an earnest appeal for revenue of the law was made today by administration officials as a result of President Harding's conference on the subject with state governors.

Among the 14 state executives who discussed the subject at white house luncheon conference yesterday, it appeared that the way to improvement in the enforcement situation was more in the rehabilitation of enforcement statutes. More severe fines and prison sentences for violation, it was said to have been held would assist prohibition officers in their work while more careful selection of progressive persons and education of the public to the necessity of law reverence were among the other "informal" suggestions made.

In a statement after the conference Prohibition Commissioner Haynes said in many instances that representatives of the government were of "encouraging nature". Indications today were that another conference of governors might be called early in the new year for further consideration.

Christmas Table to bear High Prices

Christmas dinner is coming high this year, according to prevailing price at leading groceries of the city. Milady's dinner menu will contain a long list of choice foods, however, judging from the trend of advance orders which were being received as early as this morning.

Eggs, the headliner for this season of the year, today were selling at 55 cents. One or two places reported that they had been selling eggs at 50 cents. Merchants were of the opinion that if the demand increased, eggs would probably go to 60 cents, maybe higher. At present the market is fairly well stocked with eggs.

In fruits the highest price of the year had been reached. Recent shipments of the best oranges and apples that have been exhibited here this year, boosting the price. Oranges were selling from 40 to 60 cents per dozen and apples at the same price.

Hens were going at from 18 to 20 cents per pound today and prospects were that this price would be maintained, if not increased. There is a good supply of hens and merchants did not expect the market to become short before the holidays were past.

The old Christmas turkey, fattened for weeks, was the center of attraction in the way of meats, however. He was demanding and getting his price of 30 cents per pound on today's market quotations.
Thanksgiving holidays did not get all the turkeys, merchants say, and early sales indicated that the supply would be sufficient for the coming holidays.

And the most prominent side dishes to the turkey, cranberries for the sauce and celery were not to be denied a commanding price.
Cranberries were bringing 25 cents a quart and celery was going at 15 and 20 cents a bunch. Other necessary articles were selling at comparative prices.

The wise housewife will get her Christmas menu in the hands of the grocer by Friday evening, merchants said today. Those who get their orders in by Friday evening will get them early Saturday morning, and those who wait will stand a chance of having to wait until probably late Saturday night to get their orders.

"If we get the majority of our orders from city customers by Friday night, it will give us a chance to fill them Friday night and all day Saturday to deliver them," one merchant explained. "We will have our country trade to take care of Saturday and the rush probably will be all we will be able to handle.
The wise housewife will get her order in as early as possible."

Soldier and Girl Shot to Death in San Antonio Hotel

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 19.—Corporal James C. Huntington of the Twelfth Field Artillery, Camp Travis, and Mrs. Ruby S. Krenk of Youngstown, Ohio, were found shot to death in a hotel room here this morning when police broke open a door after hearing two shots. A bullet had entered the brain of each. The woman was in bed and appeared to have been killed while asleep. Huntington's body was lying on the side of the bed with his feet on the bed and his head on the floor. An army revolver was near him. Police believe the man shot the woman and then killed himself.
The woman's husband was asleep in a room nearby.

SHRINERS MEET MONDAY EVENING

Officers Elected to Head Shrine Club for Year; Plan Expansion.

Despite a conflicting statement published in the Ada Evening News,
the Pontotoc County Shrine club held one of its most successful meetings of the year Monday evening in the Chamber of Commerce rooms with most of the novices initiated during the recent ceremonial attendance. Officers for the new year were elected.

Several matters of importance were taken up during the meeting after the officers for the new year were named. The club announced its charity budget in connection with a $50 donation to the Ada scouts.
The club went to record as setting aside $200 to be used in charity work during the Christmas holidays in addition to their $10 donation to the Empty Stocking fund.

Arrangements were discussed at Monday's meeting for the holding of monthly meeting during the next year. A committee of J. I. McCauley, chairman; T. B. Blake, Sam A.
McKeel, John Keltner and M. M.
Webster will complete final arrangements for holding the monthly meetings.

The Pontotoc County Shrine club has expanded to about 100 members since its foundation here two years ago. The club has planned further expansion in the establishment of permanent club rooms.

The following officers were elected for the year:

M. C. Taylor, president; Joe Cole, vice president; Chas. A. Gorn, secretary; W. M. Pegg, treasurer; H.
B. Roach, sergeant-at-arms.

STATE EXPECTS TO END CASE OF ALVA BOWEN

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 19.—
The state today was expected to complete its case in the trial of Alva R. Bowen, charged with the murder of his brother, Walter, former employee in a composing room of a Muskogee newspaper.

Three witnesses were placed on the stand by the state before the close of yesterday's session of court.
Nearly five hours were consumed in the selection of a jury, and taking of testimony did not begin until four o'clock in the afternoon.
Each juror was qualified on the death penalty.

Deputy E. O. Wright, one of the witnesses, told of the shooting at the M. K. and T. depot here early on the morning of November 2.
Bowen was at the station and emptied a revolver at his brother as the latter alighted from a train from Muskogee. He was being brought back here by Wright to face a charge of failure to support his wife and two children.

as the hour of the pioneer attorney's funeral drew near.

DARING ROBBERS STILL AT LARGE; NEW CLUE TRACED

County and City of Denver Offer $10,000 for Capture.

WOMAN GIVES CLUE

Chicago Authorities Stand Watch After Report
of New Clue

(By the Associated Press) DENVER, Dec. 19.—The city and county of Denver today offered a reward of $10,000 for the arrest dead or alive of the bandits who yesterday robbed a federal reserve truck of $200,000 after a gun battle in front of the United States mine here, in which Charles T.
Linton, one of the guards on the truck, was fatally wounded.

Chief of police Tugge Williams was still of the opinion today that the men who completed the robbery were not professional bandits and informed the Associated Press that he was conducting his search along that line. He believed the robbers had not left Denver. Last night and during the early hours this morning detectives and police made a thorough search of rooming houses and small hotels and there was a general checking up of all characters known to the police.

Information furnished by a woman this morning gave the police new hopes of apprehension of the robbers. The informer, it was said at police headquarters, gave detailed information to the officials that has aided them in narrowing down their man hunt to a quest of certain well described persons who are well known to the police.

As a result of information furnished by the woman, police officers declared they expected speedy developments and early arrests.
Eighteen hours of search by federal, county and city officers and questioning of sixteen persons at police headquarters had failed up to early this morning to reveal any trace of the bandits, who yesterday robbed a federal reserve bank truck of $200,000 after a gun battle in front of the United States mine here in which Charles T. Linton, one of the guards in the truck, was fatally wounded.

The thin air into which the des-perados seemingly vanished is being charged with radiograms from several stations conveying to distant police a description of the bandits.

Search in Chicago
CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—Working on the belief that the bandits, who obtained $200,000 in cash in a daring robbery at the door of the Denver mint might be headed towards Chicago, federal agents last night were ordered posted along highways entering the city. Federal authorities said that they had received information from a woman that the robbers might attempt to lose themselves in this city. All overland trains will be searched, they said.
According to the information officers said that they had received, the bandits were expected to come within 100 miles of Chicago by train and attempt the remaining distance in a dash by automobile.

HEARING RESUMED ON DAUGHERTY CHARGES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Hearings on impeachment charges against Attorney General Daugherty were resumed today by the house judiciary committee at the point where they were broken off Thursday by the dramatic withdrawal from the proceedings of Representative Keller, republican, Minnesota, author of the charges.

The committee proposed to call before it such witnesses as it could find without the aid of Mr. Keller, who refused to obey a subpoena issued, it was declared, with a view to obtaining from him the information on which he based his charges and the names of the persons who could testify concerning the case.

As the hearing goes forward it is the plan to have a sub-committee make an investigation as to what action, if any should be taken in connection with Mr. Keller's refusal to obey the subpoena. Chairman Volstead expects to appoint the sub-committee today or tomorrow.

A well known political writer says that the shortest cut to permanent peace in Europe will be for several other nations to sign an iron clad agreement to come to the aid of France should Germany again attack her. Naturally France is in deadly fear of German treachery; with her superiority in population Germany could make short work of France, if let alone. At this time France is causing considerable uneasiness by her threat to occupy the Ruhr region. France has the largest army in Europe and the expense of its upkeep is hastening the nation towards bankruptcy. However, France argues that she cannot afford to reduce her armament and expose herself to the horrors of another German invasion. At all events, a guarantee such as has been suggested, would remove the necessity or excuse, whichever it may be, of France maintaining a large army, and then France would be forced to change her warlike attitude and turn her men back to productive pursuits. If Germany realized that an aggressive move on her part meant a hopeless defeat she would in time have to drop some of her military ardor and likewise devote her full time to industry and trade. Then, indeed, would a real beginning be made in the restoration of Europe and the world as a whole.

Of recent years the peddlers of discontent and hate have done a thriving business. They thrive on the dissensions they create. The more bitter the feeling they stir up between classes the larger the returns for them. Everything is wrong, as they tell it, and the shortest cut to a redress of grievances is for the discontented ones to dig down into their pockets and dig up their last pennies to enable the purveyors of discord to travel about delivering their messages to others. Somehow it is natural for the average human being to crave expressions of sympathy. It is easy for most of us to imagine we are suffering from some ill or that we are being imposed upon by some one else. The agitator plays on this trait of nature and fattens while his dupes get nothing but a deeper hatred for their fellows and become filled with a discontent from which they make no effort to rid themselves.

The Filipinos, after fighting a losing war for their independence twenty-five years ago, have since turned to more pacific and reasonable methods. They are keeping the question before the American authorities and pushing their propaganda by means of newspaper articles and circulars setting forth their claims. Several times delegations have called on the president and congress urging their claims for independence. Such procedure under Spanish rule would have meant the wholesale shooting of every person suspected of being in sympathy with the move. The same would have happened with almost any other nation, but this country sets the example of tolerance and gives these people all the latitude they wish in pushing the question of independence. There have been no violence on either side and the chances are that in the end the islands will be given complete independence with both sides benefitted by the peaceful solution.

The human intellect and its workings have been the object of speculation and study for many centuries but its vagaries are but little better understood now than when the first thinker began to wonder why phenomena presented themselves. The mind is elusive and baffling and a person is often unable to account for some of his own actions. The very mystery of the intellect has led all sorts of imposters to prey upon human credulity and cause their deluded followers to commit acts with little reason. Perhaps some day scientists will be able to tell us just what the mind is and devise means of directing it into steady channels of action. Perhaps that will enable society to eradicate criminal tendencies.

"Income Tax Worries Ended," says an ad telling about a book written by some figure expert. If he would just tell us how to end our income worries we would gladly face a few tax worries.

The problems of the world depend upon small things. The teacher has more trouble with two or three boys than with all the rest. A county spends more money trying to make decent citizens out of a few families than it spends upon all other criminals. The state is often kept in trouble by the backwardness of some one county. The world is thrown into a war by the wrong doing of one little state or nation. And this is life. If we could find some method of eliminating the small troublesome part of the people government would be a simple matter.

Do more than you are paid for and eventually you will be paid for more than you do, is the way the economic rule has been stated of observers. How many will apply this rule?

Christmas on the Rhine (Duncan Banner)

United States soldiers stationed in the Rhineland, according to a dispatch from Coblenz, are contributing one dollar each to a fund of several million marks, with which they intend to give German children a real Christmas. Clothing and toys are being collected, soup kitchens supported largely by officers, have been established, and other measures taken for the relief of the German poor.

It is not surprising that soldiers who carry machine guns and poison gas should also be bearers of peace and good will. The fighting man is the last to talk war, the first to fight, and the most ready to forget and forgive. In battle he meets resistance and overcomes it. In victory, unarmed, hungry, helpless men and women and children fall back as he approaches. Even were he so inclined, he could not punish them all; he must either help them to help themselves or let them alone. The soldier, by nature, is not a spectator; he can't stand by and look on, whether the call be arms, or to relieve distress.

In the role of Santa Claus the soldier serves his country well. The United States, for the time being, has withdrawn from its position of world leadership, and is attempting an impossible role—to maintain itself as a passive spectator. The doughboy on the Rhine, perhaps is more representative of the sentiment of the United States than is the government which he serves.

HARRIS HOTEL
Cigar Stand

(By Harry Miller)

College Professors to Hike with Scouts Wednesday evening. Listen, Sneezy Scout. You're billed for a hilarious good time Wednesday evening. Every Troop will have a college professor to go with them on a hike. Pres. A. Linscheid, Prof. Hugh Norris, R. R. Robinson, J. W. Zimmerman, E. H. Nelson and J. O. Wodd of Teachers college will hike with Ada Scouts to different places, tell stories and make every scout meeting a happy and exciting one. If your appetite demands it, why be sure and bring some eats along. Each troop will have a big camp fire and around that camp fire you're going to hear some sure enough spooky stories. If you're least bit shaky in your knees, perhaps you'd better stay at home, for old Scrooges Ghosts are liable to get you.

Scouts be easy with the Professors, especially Hugh Norris. Don't make him crawl through any culverts when you go to initiate him. If you want to hear some rip-roaring good Xmas stories around the camp fire, be on hand Wednesday evening. Ask your Scout master about when to meet and where and what to bring. Every scout in Ada ought to be out to these meetings. Be Johnny on the spot. Wednesday evening is the time Sneezy Scout. If it is too cold or rainy these meetings will be held at the regular scout meeting places.

Australians Want Holidays Sacred; Ask Shows Close

(By the Associated Press)

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Dec. 19. —The Australian Theatrical Alliance is combining with the Anglican Synod to prevent the introduction into Australia of the Continental Sunday. It has been announced.

The Synod already has adopted a motion strongly deprecating Sunday sport and it has received a letter from the Theatrical Alliance asking its co-operation in having "all places of amusement closed on Christmas Day and Good Friday, because at least two days of the year should be rendered sacred, and not allowed to drift into desecration and degradation."

"Experience teaches that with the profanation of these two days, the Continental Sundays will surely follow with all theatres open and as many as five performances being given in one theatre on one day," the letter said. "The result is that Sunday would be a most sacrilegious day, the sacred atmosphere dissipated and moral streams of life would be polluted."

HOLD SPECIAL MEETING

The Forum debating club held a special call meeting last night. The purpose of the meeting was to adopt a permanent constitution and by-laws. The constitution and by-laws were adopted after much discussion and some amending.

After the adoption of the constitution, a short business session was held, during which Mr. Zimmerman explained that the state question for debate had been decided upon, being "Resolved that the U. S. should cancel the allied debts contracted during the war and due the United States." Also, it was planned to begin a class in debating which would entitle the members to two hours credit the same as a regular class in extension work. The class will meet once a week for discussion, and the debating team will be chosen from the class. Each member of the class is required to write a debate on a question and the best debate together with the best delivery will determine the team selection.

Immediately following the business session a short program was rendered after which candy was served by the ladies and a social time ensued. Yells were given and resolution of thanks extended the constitution committee, the delegates to the president of the Normal who performed their work so faithfully also a resolution of thanks was voted to President Lincoln for his interest and favor in granting to the club the privilege of meeting on Monday night, thus avoiding conflict with athletics and insuring the society a complete success.

A Suit for Christmas

Make it a Nice One

When a boy is old enough to have solved the mystery of Santa Claus he is old enough to appreciate a practical Christmas gift like a new suit of clothes. Naturally though he expects it to be "extra nice" since a suit is something he must have anyway. These suits will meet his expectations all right. They are manly, made like the young fellows. Two pairs of knickers with every suit so if he forgets he is grown-up and cuts loose there won't be much damage done. Ours have been reduced in price.

A Post Graduate Course In Lobster Salad

Pierre Berdoulay, famous New York chef, gives personal instructions to Alexandra Carlisle

Pierre very graciously consented to tell his most cherished culinary secret to Miss Carlisle, now starring in "Fools Errant" at the Maxie Elliott Theatre, New York, and supplemented it by personal instructions in all the fine points of concocting lobster salad. Under such expert tutelage the well known star of the stage has become an equally famous star in salad preparation. Even the best informed connoisseurs have declared that they cannot distinguish between Miss Carlisle's art and that of her famous teacher.

The basic factors in this salad are lettuce, small celery stalks, and lobster. The decorations are carried out with eggs, scallops, and capers, and the crowning glory is the mayonnaise dressing.

The apt student in this case has worked out a recipe for a mayonnaise dressing which is quickly, easily, and successfully prepared. A cup of vegetable fat is very slightly heated and beaten to a cream. This is particularly easy to digest because vegetable fats have a melting point which is nearer the temperature of the body than animal fats. The yolks of two eggs, beaten light, are then gradually worked into the fat cream. The seasoning, which consists of a teaspoon of mustard, a teaspoon of salt, one quarter teaspoon of paprika, one quarter spoon of vinegar, and four table-spoons of pepper, is added. The vinegar should be added drop by drop while the dressing is stirred vigorously.

"Music"

"If music be the food of love, play on."—Shakespeare.

For the benefit of the music club students who are studying the biographies of the great composers and have no reference books, I will give from week to week short sketches of the early years of the ones in your outline for this winter. The first one, I believe, is Bach.

Johann Sebastian Bach was born in Eisenach on or about March 21, 1685. He came of a long line of musicians, some of them distinguished, who had kept the art alive in the places where they dwelt (mostly in Thuringia) during the troublous times of the Thirty Years War. Many of them had been organists and composers of celebrity, and so identified with music had the name of Bach become that the town players were called the Bachs when there no longer were any Bachs among them.

The family seems early to have imbibed the principles of the Reformation, and to have been distinguished for piety as well as music, all which contributed to the building up of our John Sebastian.

The Bachs had no need to go out of their own family for instruction in music; that art had been handed down from father to son, and, accordingly, John Sebastian's first instructor was his own father, who seems to have initiated him early into the mysteries of violin playing.

At the age of nine he lost his mother, and within a year his father also. John then went to live with an older brother who was the organist and choir director in the village of Ohrdruf.

A story of this time is told which is characteristic of John Sebastian, who was always eager to know the works of the most distinguished composers. His brother had made a collection of the most famous compositions for the organ, which he kept jealously guarded from Sebastian. One night the latter stole down stairs, and succeeded in extracting the roll of music through the wires of the bookcase. Having no light, he had to copy it by moonlight. His brother took them from him but it gave him a chance to become acquainted with the works of Buxtehude and others. For general education he entered the Lyceum where he sang in the choir and is said to have had a fine soprano voice, which at the age of fifteen obtained him an appointment in the convent school and choir St. Michael, Lüneburg. His voice broke soon after and he went back to the study of the organ and violin. Sometimes he would walk great distances to hear some organist or violinist play. In 1703, when he was eighteen years old he was given the position of organist in the New Church at Arnstadt, the largest organ in that part of the country at that time, with a salary large enough to enable him to go on with his studies.

CITY FLAWS COP LIONS' ATTENTION

Plans for Aiding City in Betterment of Present Conditions Outlined.

Ways for co-operating with the city administration in an effort to better the sanitary conditions here were discussed at a meeting of the Lions at their semi-monthly luncheon today at the Harris hotel. Dr. Sam A. McKee, city physician, discussed the matter at length and pointed out the conditions, which should be remedied. He is of the opinion that the city can not be really cleaned up as it should be unless the citizenship is willing to help.

After the matter had been discussed from several angles by various members of the club, including Rev. J. H. Bail, President Ellison appointed Wm. L. Whitaker, A. K. Thornton and Rev. C. C. Morris as a committee to work on the negotiations for the desired improvements.

Among other business matters transacted by the club was the endorsement of the community chorus, plans for which were outlined by Mrs. Byron Norrell, president of the musical organization of the city which is pushing choral work. The club agreed to pay $75 to help meet the expense of the work. Mrs. Norrell reported that the Retail Merchants association and the city administration would donate a like amount, and it is thought the Chamber of Commerce will do likewise.

Lowery Harrell, city attorney, spoke for a few minutes on the reasons why more work cannot be done by the city. Not enough money is available to carry on all the sanitation work needed, he said. The city administration is making the best showing possible with the funds available, but more could be done if the funds were provided, he maintained. As it is, he says the police force is doing double duty, the members acting not only as policemen but also as health officers.

Complete Treaty of Peace to be Handled for Turk Inspection

LAUSANNE, Dec. 19.—It was reported this afternoon that a complete draft of the peace treaty drawn up as a result of the deliberations of the near east conference here would be presented to the Turks on Saturday.

Today's session of the conference which was dealing with the question of the straits was adjourned at two p. m. until tomorrow without an agreement having been reached. The Turkish delegation was conciliatory during the discussions, but the Russian representatives maintained an attitude of opposition.

Lord Curzon announced that the discussions were dragging on too lengthy and that tomorrow's meeting must be the last for the consideration of the straits problem.

Lawyers Would Change Court Procedure when Bar Association Meets

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 19.—Proposals to alter procedure in the Oklahoma supreme court in order to remedy congestion and lay the basis for keeping the court docket clear in the future, and the election of supreme court justices on non-partisan ballots will be submitted to the lawyers of the state by a special committee of their body when the state bar association convenes in annual session here Dec. 27 and 28.

This was announced as the probable legislative program of the association by F. B. Owen, chairman of the committee, and J. A. Duff, president of the association.

As a measure of immediate relief, it was announced, in consideration that the supreme court is said to be three years behind its docket, one recommendation will be the re-establishment of the supreme court commission of nine members which would dispose of cases at bar, prepare opinions, and submit them to the court for review.

Such a commission, it was said, was formed immediately after statehood, but was later disbanded. It is planned that the commission would be appointed to sit for three years and then pass out of existence.

As a measure of permanent relief to the court it is to be proposed by the committee that a preliminary hearing on the probability of error should be held before the court is required to go into the merits of cases involving sums less than $200, exclusive of cost and interest. A prima facie showing of error would be necessary before an appeal could be filed, Judge Owen explained.

Judge Owen said that a constitutional amendment would be necessary to provide for a non-partisan election of justices to the supreme bench. He pointed out that such a proceeding would take the supreme court out of politics and cause justices to be elected on account of fitness, without regard to party affiliation.

The annual address at the convention will be delivered by Dr. Roscoe Pound, dean of the law school of Harvard university, whose subject will be "Organization of Courts" according to the program which has just been announced. The address is expected to cover in a general way the relief of court congestion and the facilitation of matters before courts, which is to be taken up specifically in connection with the legislative program.

The program of the convention follows:

Wednesday, Dec. 27, 9:30 a. m. Address of Welcome—Byron Shear, Oklahoma City.

Response—N. A. Gibson, Muskogee.

President's Address—J. D. Duff, Cordell.

Reports of committees: Jurisprudence and law reform, judicial administration and remedial reform—F. B. Owen, chairman, Oklahoma City.

Legal education and admission to the bar—Julian C. Monett, chairman, Norman.

Commercial law—Adrian Melton, chairman, Chickasha.

Law Reporting and digesting—Villard Martin, chairman, Muskogee.

Uniformity of laws—Judge James R. Tolbert, chairman, Hobart.

Grievances—Charles F. Dyer, chairman, Enid.

Banquets—V. E. McInnis, chairman, Oklahoma City.

Special committee to draft model act for government of state bar—Judge J. F. Sharp, chairman, Oklahoma City.

Special committee to draft juvenile legislation—Henry G. Snyder, chairman, Oklahoma City.

Report on the meeting of American Bar association—Frank Wells, chairman, Oklahoma City.

Wednesday, Dec. 27, 1:30 p. m. Unfinished business.

Report of special committee appointed to consider a proposed plan of reform in judicial system will be a special order of business.

Annual address—Dr. Roscoe Pound, dean of Harvard university law school, subject, "The Organization of Courts."

Wednesday, Dec. 27, 6:30 p. m. Annual banquet.

Thursday, Dec. 28, 9:30 a. m. Paper—"Should the courts be controlled by the constitution or by acts of congress?"—Judge C. B. Ames, Oklahoma City.

EMPLOYMENT NOT FIXED IN STATE

Oil Production in Oklahoma Helps Relieve Work Problems.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Only a slight increase in employment has been noted this fall in Oklahoma, with industrial gains largely offset by declines in other occupations, it was stated in a seasonal review just issued by the federal department of labor.

In Oklahoma City and Muskogee the employment situation is nearly balanced, according to the review, while Tulsa shows a moderate increase, with a slight decrease noted at Enid.

More extensive oil producing operations in the state are partly balanced by the seasonal decline in building operations, it was reported. But no decline in building construction was noted in Oklahoma City, the report stating that such activities "continue to absorb much of the ample supply of these craftsmen."

In Oklahoma City, it is further noted, "a considerable surplus of common labor and numerous transient workers is apparent."

In the general review of state conditions, the report says:

"Employment in the metal industry is indicative of gradual improvement. Lumber mills register appreciable but somewhat sporadic gains. Railroad shops indicate employment increases and renewed operations. More extensive oil producing operations are gradually reducing idleness among workers in this line. The seasonal decline in building construction and repair has increased the surplus of these craftsmen. A moderate influx of idle casual workers has also adversely affected the situation. Limited demand with the supply of common labor abundant."

Employment gains in Oklahoma City are partially offset by a surplus of casual workers in diverse occupations, according to the review.

With reference to the situation in the capital city the review says that "metal and lumber industries show nearly normal working forces. Railroad shops display renewed activity and employment gains. Oil producing operations are gradually increasing employment. A considerable surplus of common labor and numerous transient workers is apparent."

For Tulsa the review says: "Employment registers a moderate increase. Metal products show gradual improvement with operations still below normal. Railroad shops are active. Oil production absorbs a greater number of field workers. Building construction is still active, with a surplus of labor, particularly among those employed on frame structures, apparent. Common labor is partially absorbed, with the supply ample. Idle transient labor is more in evidence."

At Muskogee, according to the review, "the employment situation is nearly balanced. Metal working industries are restricted but advancing. Railroad shops have made additions to working forces. Oil production employment is gradually improving. Building construction absorbs a considerable number with a moderate surplus of these workers, especially carpenters, in evidence. Common labor is in limited demand although the supply is more than ample. A surplus of floating labor is noted."

Employment at Enid is "somewhat less extensive, with an upward trend in view," the report said. "Railroad shops are partially recovered from depression caused by controversies. Additional employment is expected. A decline in building construction makes considerable idleness among these craftsmen. An excess in the common labor supply obtains. A moderate surplus of both skilled and unskilled transients is noted."

Mexican Kiddies Get Christmas Gifts from Pinata, Eastern Cup

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 19.—Mexican children in Texas know Santa Claus as well as their American playmates, only in many of the Mexican households he leaves his gifts in a pinata, or earthen cup suspended from the ceiling instead of upon a Christmas tree, according to Alejandro Lubert, Mexican consul here, describing the manner of celebrating the holiday season in some Mexican homes.

"The pinata, filled with presents, is broken by children, who are blindfolded and beat the air with long sticks trying to locate the gift cup," says Mr. Lubert.

The season of pasada also is observed for nine days prior to Christmas, which was handed down from the story of Mary and Joseph going from house to house seeking a place for the Christ child to be born. Formerly nine intimate families held pasada observances at their various homes, one each evening, and upon each occasion a pinata was broken. Now the custom has somewhat changed. Frequently societies, during the season of pasada, have pinata parties at which a delegation of the prettiest girls, properly blindfolded, break the pinata holding gifts for all."

Notice. Solicitors for the Dearborn Independent will please turn in all subscriptions to date by the afternoon of the 20th. Prizes to be awarded Friday, December 22d, at 5 o'clock.—W. E. Harvey.

Oil News

The Signal Hill well in section 36-5n-1e, 15 miles west of the Beebe field, is good for from 500 to 1,000 barrels of a good grade of oil, according to C. N. Russell, moving genius of the enterprise, who was in Ada Monday. Mr. Russell operates out of Ada.

Mr. Russell states that the drill entered the sand at 2930 feet and penetrated it ten feet. The oil is close to 41 degrees gravity, testing 38 degrees after standing in the tanks for three weeks.

Some casing trouble is being encountered, but as soon as this can be taken care of, the well will be put in shape to flow or put on the pump.

Mr. Russell has been working on this well for four years, the hole having been started in 1918. He has felt strongly that he was in the right territory and has plugged away, overcoming obstacle after obstacle. He says he now has a real well there.

Marsh who said he represented the people's reconstruction league, composed of progressive farm and labor organizations, declared the solution of the present agricultural situation lay in passage of the Norris government corporation bill rather than in the extension of further farm credits.

NEWS AND GUARD TEAMS TO BATTLE

Thompson's Cubs to Meet Also in Thursday Night Double-Header.

Two real basketball games are on schedule for tonight when the Ada News and High School tangles and when Coach Thompson puts his two pet squads against each other in the third lap of the city league schedule.

Because national guard companies will stand inspection at armory tonight, the city league games will be played in the college gym. Teams are requested to be on hand at 7 o'clock for the opening game. Dressing facilities will be provided at the college. In the absence of Pat Bentley, president, the games will be under the supervision of Coach M. Z. Thompson of the college.

High school took the first game from the Guardsmen 13 to 10, and have been showing great form in daily workouts since, according to Coach Cox. His wealth of material is putting up a hard fight for places on the squad and tonight he expects to see his youngsters in their best form.

News men have been working hard to get enough wind to put up a hard fight through an entire game. Lack of wind has been one of the greatest drawbacks of any team this season. After dropping the first game to the Cubs, News team came back and smothered the guardsmen 21 to 3. Tonight's game will decide a place near the top in team standings.

Cubs and Frogs will have some battle in their tangle. Thompson said today that he was going to use the best of his second string material for the game. Both teams will be composed of college players. He did not know what the line-ups would be. Both squads won their opening games by easy scores.

Another double header will be played next Saturday night. No let-up will be called for the Christmas season, four games being scheduled for Christmas week.

"I bought a Ford in here several weeks ago," said a retired farmer living near Roff. "And if anything went wrong, you would supply the broken parts didn't you?"

"Sure thing," Harvey replied.

"Well then, I'd like to get a shoulder, a nose and a big toe."

Nearly all the wise boys around Allen's think they can play with firewater and not get burned, which accounts for several things.

The meek shall inherit the earth but not until everyone else is dead chatters the wise girl.

"What would you suggest for our library, club to read," inquired Mrs. Butinski.

"A cook book," responded her brutal husband.

The meanest man in the world has been found.

He lives here in Ada.

He and his son-in-law bought a Ford.

Then they had an argument and neither could agree on the Ford so they decided to divide it.

He took the rear of the Ford and the son-in-law took the front.

He insisted that the son-in-law buy all the gas because it was in his territory.

Recently the Ford kicked the old man and now he is suing the son-in-law for damages.

When a man grows weary of this old world he can walk down the street and pretend that he is a paymaster. Some yegg will do the work.

Old Joshua made the moon stand still so that he could win a battle.

But some folks make the moon shine still where hammers do not rattle.

While others make the moonshine still where neighbors do not tattle.

He sat there upon the sofa—Not a sound penetrated the stillness of the room.

"I was very late he knew, and soon he needs must go out into the stormy night with the remembrance of the comfortableness now surrounding him.

The lights were turned low and then out—How comfortable?"

He took the delicate hand in his with the tenderness of a child and with longing eyes whispered something very remote—such a beautiful face he had never seen.

After setting his watch he put it in his pocket and called it a night.

Hiram says that with purt night all the gals wearing boots and all the slick young fellows in Ada wear in Greaser pants with slits in 'em der, if it don't look like their comin' back to flarm after all.

Reports have been circulated to the effect that Major Wolfe is a "bear" with some of the ladies around town and is very attentive when perchance they drink at Allen's.

BRYDIA PLEDGES HELP TO FARMERS

Proposes to Bond Assets of School Land Fund in Aid Program.

Farmers of Oklahoma will receive the first attention of Representative-elect, F. F. Brydia of Pontotoc county. He has announced his intention of framing and introducing a farm relief bill which would make available to farmers of the state $180,000,000.

In outlining the source for the money, he proposes to bond the assets of the school land fund, lend the proceeds to farmers upon good security that present mortgages on the land might be taken up, and thereby save hundreds of farmers their lands.

Brydia has been in the farm loan business here for several years and declares he is well acquainted with the condition of the farmers. He estimates that about 500 farmers to the county have their farms under second mortgage which will come due some time in 1923.

With the fund he plans to create farmers could obtain money to pay off these mortgages on such loans at five per cent, and begin anew to get re-established financially. If some action is not taken immediately agriculture in Oklahoma will be ruined, he believes.

Poor crops and low prices have put farmers in bad condition financially, he said. If the state does not assist them they will not only lose their farms, but will also be put in a condition whereby they will be unable to produce crops next year, he thinks.

The measure he proposes would limit the loans to farmers to $5,000 each. He said he believed the average would be approximately $4,000 each, thus permitted 43,750 farmers to be benefitted. Oklahoma could then face the coming year with a strong agricultural lineup, he states.
